Co-op Meeting To Be Held Tonight

AT CITY HALL

The Elba City Council held its first meeting of the month on Monday night of this week. The meeting was held in the City Hall with all members present.

The first item of business was to hear a report from Mr. Gene Jacobs and Mr. Harold Tucker speaking for the local American Legion. They informed the council that the Legion had scheduled a fair for the first week in September and assured the council that it would be a clean above board, operation. Tucker told the council, "We will close anything you do not like" when asked about the possibility of undesirable side shows.

The next order of business was to hear a report from Oliver Williams that the city concur in right-of-way condemnation across the Brooks estate in the Troy Highway. The council voted to notify the Brooks Estate, Rowe Estate and Plack Lumber Co. that the issue will be discussed at the next meeting.

Mr. Chris Blasi, representing National Developers, asked if the council would continue previous policies of installing sewer pipe if the property owners bear the expense of installing the sewer lines but the motion was tabled until the mayor could get an opinion from Farmers Home Administration concerning a clause in the present mortgage with them that says the city cannot go into agreement or debt with anyone else for a certain period of time.

Charles Hayes III requested that another entrance be cut into the new part of the Evergreen Cemetery. He cited the confusion now involved with the one entrance. The council voted to request the state highway department to cut this entrance exit.

Hayes also asked if the city had a Cemetery Committee. Mayor Brunson reported that there was no active committee and instructed the city clerk to investigate this matter and report back to the council.

Superintendent Elmer Taylor reported that the effect of the local effort bill passed by the Alabama Legislature during the special education session would be felt in Elba according to recent rulings. The City of Elba has a good "local effort" but to receive state funds it must be lumped with all systems in the county to determine local effort. The county school tax is quite a bit lower than the tax of both Elba and Enterprise which causes the entire average to drop. Taylor invited the councilmen to attend a joint meeting of all the school boards in the county on Wednesday night, August 13th. The meeting will be held in the Elba Elementary School at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Rone Kane, airport manager, reported on the need of ground traffic rules at the airport for the safety of all concerned. Police Chief Jack Smart was instructed to work with Kane in setting up these rules and enforcing them. Kane also requested that a timer be placed on the rotating beacon to allow it to operate all night every night and to automatically cut off at daylight. This action was approved.

City Clerk Harris Winston was instructed to contact FAA concerning the danger of the Cable TV tower being directly in line with the north-south runway and a hazard at all times and especially at dusk.

The council gave approval for Dorsey Trailers to allow one of their employees to park a house-trailer near their security at the airport for safeguard of their plane.

Chief Smart reported that during the last month his department collected $689 in fines. The council voted to hire Willie Taylor, Jr., as a policeman following the recommendation of Chief Smart.

In other action, the council voted to ratify the actions of the chief in releasing Sgt. Gilley.

Mayor Brunson reported $4235.02 in unpaid bills, some of which were carried over from last month. The council approved payment of these bills when money is available.

The city clerk was instructed to draw up a resolution that would give staggered terms to the Industrial Board.

Mayor Brunson gave a report on the sewer progress and problems and announced that a meeting was scheduled for Wednesday of this week with FHA rep, contractor reps, and local official to iron out any problems and to discuss the repair of city streets.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned with a notation that the next regular council meeting was scheduled for August 18.

POOR ORIGINAL

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

Foremost in my mind today is a case before the U.S. Supreme Court. It seems that a law passed by Congress is having a great effect on the people who mail smut publications and advertisements. The law provides that if smut mail is received by someone who does not want it, they can sign a form at the post office and the mailer MUST stop mailing to the person or persons. Now some of the smut mailers in California are crying that this violates the mailers' constitutional rights! In spite of many unpopular rulings by our top court, I can not believe that they will follow this line of thinking. Another amusing angle to this is that on the same day I was reading about the law suit and the quote of it costing $5 to take a person off the list (even though he was offended and was not a customer) an article in another book quoted one of the major smut book publishers as saying that they only used names of people who have purchased their material in the last six months. I call this a bald face error. His company recently mailed an advertisement to our office in the name of a person who has not been associated with the Elba Clipper in many years!

My comments last week on the local option liquor bill brought many varied comments and opinions. None of us really know what would happen if the petition and/or voting became a reality in Elba, but just from what I have seen in other towns in the past and what has been said this week, I am sure it would be an emotional issue with very few "fence riders."

Last Saturday my family and I attended the 1st annual Leaseholders picnic at Ft. Rucker. This event was hosted by Commanding General and Mrs. Oden for all the people in South Alabama and North West Florida who lease land to the Army for aviator training. We thoroughly enjoyed the picnic and the VIP treatment extended to us by all of the military people we came in contact with during the day. General and Mrs. Oden have the poise and friendliness that will always shine through regardless of the hardships that I am sure are associated with a lifetime of military leadership.

We can all breathe a sigh of relief in the near future (I hope) the sewer project is nearing completion and the city officials are getting down to the details of returning the city streets to a useable condition. It will be some time yet before this is completed but when it is we will all be proud of the sanitary sewer system and the good paved streets.

Head Start Completed At Elba School

The Head Start Program at Elba High School closed Monday, July 28, 1969, with a program in the high auditorium presented by the boys and girls. This program presented many of the things that the preschoolers had learned this summer. Many parents, brothers and sisters were present and enjoyed the program. Mrs. Miriam Farris, Director of Coffee County Organized Community Action Program, and her staff were present for the program.

The Head Start staff did a fine job training the boys and girls, and they will be better prepared to enter the first grade, or kindergarten this fall. Most of the boys and girls attending Head Start were from low income families; therefore, much needed to be done concerning their physical well being.

All children were given physicals either as preschool or as part of Head Start. One boy is scheduled for surgery following these

THE TWO APOLLO 11 astronauts left behind some mighty expensive "junk" when they left the moon last week. The "junk" they discarded was worth almost one million dollars, including cameras, tools and breathing equipment. The next guy who goes to the moon may find all that equipment still there but according to the extreme heat and cold (it will have deteriorated within a short time is my opinion). The cameras they left on the moon included the black and white television camera that captured their moon walk for the world to see. That camera cost the National Aeronautics and Space Administration $250,000. Also in the litter was a Kodak worth $50,000 and doesn't want to. NASA bought a large number of flags from different manufacturers, and all the labels were removed. One was selected at random and a spokesman said they have no idea which one is up there. It was explained that this was so no company could make a big thing of their flag being on the moon.

A plaque bearing the autographs of the astronauts and of President Nixon couldn't be priced. It was made in the metal shop at NASA of materials already on hand.

A silicone water bearing electronically-reduced messages of goodwill from 78 countries cost NASA nothing. A private firm produced it at no cost to the government.

I guess if someone did get to the moon without knowing of the plunder that had been left up there they would get the feeling they had gone to a picnic area and found it all cluttered up with "litter." Right now there is no law against "litter" on the moon, but frankly I wouldn't call such expensive junk "litter." I sure don't call my Hasselblad camera and attachments "litter," but Larry does. He tells me he wouldn't have it if I should give it to him. But I can't see giving away my expensive junk, and

WE THINK we're real smart.

Right now there is no telling what geologists will find in the rocks and dust the astronauts brought back from the moon. Researchers agreed it was "a real scientific surprise," in samples of mysterious black lunar dust found to contain an abundant supply of "wonderfully lustrous" glass-like spheres that may have rained down on the moon after a meteor plowed into the lunar crust.

It has been announced that it would be very difficult for any form of life to exist on the moon, by a panel of researchers probing the rocks from the moon brought to earth by Apollo 11. Also found was a shiny pebble-sized rock which looked something like a pearl and minerals in the rocks were said to be "unidentified, but not unearthy," however "the common material on the lunar surface is very unlike common material on earth."

Tuesday, laboratory handlers injected moon dust into 354 germ-free mice to assure themselves it did not contain lunar organisms dangerous to life on earth. If the mice become ill, the astronauts' quarantine could be extended.

Already plans are being made to go to Mars which is so much further from the earth than the moon. I'm not going to say man will not walk on Mars. I would have said only a short time back that it would be impossible to go to the moon and back. I have an idea that since time began there have been people who had the ambition to get somewhere that looked impossible and that there have been people who would say it couldn't be done. I was said that Columbus would not discover a new land but would fall with his ship into space. Many who watched the ships go out of sight thought that was the last of them and that they would be destroyed, their fate never really known. But Columbus did discover the new country, astronauts have walked on the moon and there is no doubt in my mind but that they will also walk on Mars. So many things seem impossible and hearing the astronauts talk to people on earth seems impossible even though we know it did happen. It all continues to be a dream. It just can't be true, some of us are apt to think. But it is true.

There are some who think that going to the moon interferes with God's work, some do not believe it at all. Some think they have been wrong in their beliefs of the Bible all these years, etc. It is a merry-go-round and will continue to be one, some believing, some doubting. It is all a mess.

But my grandchildren are good skaters, also, especially Gary. He has good form and can handle his skates professionally. But it is expensive when there are four in the same family to go skating. Every time those four go skating it means $4.00 - they MUST have a drink during the period.

But skating is really great exercise. Those grandchildren of mine should be in good shape. They are regular visitors to that skating rink and they spend a lot of time skating and beating out Beautiful Lake Jackson.

I have enjoyed watching the boys and girls skate at the rink near Lake Jackson. Apparently boys are better skaters than girls. I have seen several young men who are really great skaters and look to me as if they are sliding around instead of skating. Several are real graceful and can do all kinds of skating tricks. I think they are the ones I really enjoy watching.

Food for Thought

By Mary Lee

Did you ever stop to think when you open a package of cake mix or a box of crackers why the package is designed as it is? For example, the lining of a box of cornflakes differs from a box of cookies which in turn differs from other containers for, say, flour, rice or gelatin.

Actually designing containers represents a great many hours of planning and experimentation. Packaging engineers, chemists, and food manufacturers sometimes spend years producing just the right package for a product.

Far from being just a case of eye-appeal, today's food packages perform many functions. They must protect the food from any dust or dirt; the loss of flavor, texture, color; all spoilage, and bacterial contamination.

Even substances used in the making of the packages come under extensive testing. The type of paper, kind of ink and adhesives used also are examined carefully under expected conditions of storage and use. Containers, too, must have the approval of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

Thousands of years ago primitive man probably wrapped some meat in green leaves to keep it clean—or perhaps to keep it from drying out.

LETTER TO THE OCCASIONAL CHURCH-GOER

Dear Sir:

I understand your problem. For years it was mine.

I'd say to myself, "George, it's about time you went to church." And I'd set the alarm, and put on my best suit, and start out with great intentions.

Then the kids would deflate me: "Gee, Mom, is Pop going with us?" I felt awkward already!

And the awkwardness never left. All through the service I felt stiff, uncomfortable, and very conspicuous.

So I'd stay away six more weeks - or was it sixteen? Then I'd try again. Same result! So I figured there was something wrong with the Church - or with me . . .

To rule out that slim latter possibility I decided to try worshipping every Sunday . . . just for a month or two, you understand. I had to prove the fault was with the Church.

Strange! Along about the third week the awkward feeling disappeared. And I began understanding a great many things about the Church . . . and myself . . . and God!

There's more to religion than meets the eye - after you get used to the light.

The Rev. Ralph Avera officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music included "I Love You Truly," and "Oh, Promise Me."

The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The vows were exchanged before an array of candles, bridal flowers and greenery.

Candles were lighted by Mike Parrish, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Doris Matthews served as Matron of Honor. Her dress was of yellow lace with a matching headpiece of illusion and lace.

She carried a bouquet of white furl pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white crepe and lace accented with seed pearls designed on empire lines. Her veil of silk illusion edged with lace fell over a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white furl pompons centered with a yellow throatie white orchid and showered with gila.

bridal satin streamers. Mr. Gene Streetman served as best man.

Following the ceremony the brides parents entertained at the reception.

The bride's table was covered in yellow linen over-laid with white net and caught up with yellow satin bows.

Highlighted in the center of the table was the three-tiered wedding cake. At one end of the table flanking the confection was a 4 branch candelabra holding burning white tapers. The crystal punch service graced the other end of the table.

Composites of nuts and bridal mints completed the appointments.

Mrs. Rex Ham directed the guest to the receiving line.

Miss Ann Kendrick presided over the Bride's book.

Those assisting in serving were Misses Rene Ham, Susan Ham, Tina Adams, Mrs. Ray H. Ham, Mrs. Collis Parrish and Mrs. Roy Adams.

After a wedding trip to points of Georgia the couple will make their home in Lafayette, Georgia where the groom will be employed.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Anthony of Alexander City, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sanders, Jr. of Albany, Georgia; and Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Aver of Oglethorpe, Georgia.

HOW MUCH DID A COLOR TV COST 25 YEARS AGO?

Since it didn't exist 25 years ago there is no fair way to estimate the cost. The same reasoning applies to the cost of today's telephones. Most of today's drugs didn't even exist 25 years ago, so they could not be bought at any price. Rubella Vaccine

Granted To Health Dept.

A $250,000 federal grant has been made to the Alabama Department of Public Health for a rubella immunization program.

Dr. Ira L. Myers, state health officer, said a limited quantity of the newly-licensed vaccine is expected about mid-September.

The vaccine for rubella -- German Measles -- is already available from private physicians.

Dr. Myers said the state health department has proposed a five-year plan for the eradication of rubella. Additional federal funds have been approved for the Alabama program and will be awarded when available.

Rubella is usually mild except when contracted during pregnancy. Babies whose mothers have rubella during her first three months of pregnancy may be born crippled, with cataracts, heart malformation, hearing loss, small head size, mental retardation, and blood disorders.

About 20,000 children were born with defects after the rubella epidemic in 1964. An estimated 30,000 more babies died before birth, and a large number succumbed in early infancy.

The vaccine should not be administered to pregnant women, but they may be protected indirectly by eliminating the disease among children. The state health department recommends immunization of children, both boys and girls, from age one to puberty. The initial target group is children aged 5-9.

Immunization is accomplished with one injection of vaccine.

Symptoms of rubella are very similar to several other childhood diseases, and for that reason, children should receive the rubella vaccine even though they may have had symptoms of rubella.

Rubella epidemics occur in cycles, and public health authorities have predicted another major outbreak in the early 1970's.

harvest the seed. After the seed are cleaned, they will be divided, some planted on the Moates and Paschal farms, and the remainder will be for sale.

Arrowleaf is an annual clover that seems to grow well when overseeded on established summer grasses. The seedling rate is six pounds per acre.

Moates was accompanied by District Conservationist Louie Edwards and his wives.

After a routine check of equipment and other bid requirements are made, the low bidder will be notified of the government's acceptance. W. H. Windsor of Chancellor submitted the only other bid for the project.

This gully stabilization project will receive the first R&D funds allotted to Coffee County since the Wiregrass Project was approved.

GROWTH REGULATOR

Tommy Davis of Route One, Samsom, has a ten-acre field of peanuts on which he has used a material called Alar. This is a growth regulator and the purpose in using it is to cause an increase in peanut yields and grades. Davis reports that he can see a big difference in the ten-acre field where he used the growth regulator and where it wasn't used. He plans to check the yield on this field carefully in comparison with the other yields. According to the manufacturers this mater-boars have been tested over a period of several months and are owned by various consignors in the state. The special thing about this sale is that they can tell what kind of gain each boar has made. I understand that about 50 boars will be offered for sale. As a group they look good and their records are good in spite of the hot weather the past few weeks.

The sale will be held at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 14, at the Meats Laboratory at Auburn. If you need special help, contact Extension Farm Agent J. R. Speed and he will be glad to help you.

HARVESTING PEANUTS

I attended a peanut meeting two or three years ago in Dothan, and several of the buyers from the Wiregrass were present. I remember the one of the buyers from Opp said they always got peanuts earlier from Coffee County than any other county. When you are dealing with vegetables it is good to be early. But, in this case this buyer was saying that a lot of our Coffee County growers harvested peanuts too early.

Coffee County peanut farmers often ask me about the best time to dig. I give them the regular study. Early runners should be dug when 60% of the pods turn dark inside. Spanish when 75% have turned dark and Florigiant some time before the pod stem shows signs of weakness. Each individual field is different; however, if a good lespost control program is conducted peanuts can be dug later than normal and this will increase yields. This year our peanuts look good. I hope that all growers will use enough material to control lespost disease for the few remaining weeks.

how valuable our soil and climate is here in Coffee County. We can grow almost anything. As our surface is compared with the moon surface, it is easy to have a greater appreciation for the good old earth in Coffee County.

IRRIGATION

Two farmers, M. J. Sanders of Repton and Roy Sims of Route 3, Enterprise have requested some information on irrigation. Other people are also expressing an interest in systems. I have requested our engineering and irrigation specialist at Auburn, Mr. Lawrence Ennis, to meet with each of these men on this fall to discuss the exact requirements for irrigating peanuts, corn and other crops. If you would like to have him visit you to answer specific questions that you have, get in touch with me and I will set an appointment.

CATTLE GRUBS

A lot of cattlemen are losing money by failing to control cattle grubs. These grubs puncture the hides on the cattle. Several materials can be used and should be applied in July, August or September. Co-Ral or Ruelens or Ronnell should be used. The first two are used as a spray or as "pour-ons." Be sure to follow directions carefully. Ronnell is a salt block or mineral mix fed free choice for four to five days and also effectively controls cattle grubs. I would urge all Coffee men haven't used them to use Co-Ral or Ruelens as a spray or "pour-on" in September. At this time or three weeks control at horn flies are at a peak the same time.

Cotton was not cultivated on a large scale in this county until after the Revolutionary War.

SHOPPING

A survey shows that women who have not eaten for 5 hours prior to their weekly shopping tour spent an average of $5.76 more than usual. Therefore, it would be to the home-makers financial advantage to have a shopping list. Thus, she could feel free to shop when she is hungry or not.

FABRIC SOFTENERS

Fabric softeners in the final rinse water help reduce the static charge that attracts soil to clothing. Softeners also reduce clinging of man-made fibers. They also make our garments soft to the touch. Why not keep a supply handy to use with your nicest clothes.

SAFETY

This season is one to be especially careful to prevent lockjaw, which is caused from such accidents as a cut foot from broken glass. Tetanus kills half of its victims and most of these are needless deaths. Immunization is inexpensive and about 100 per cent effective. But two-thirds of American children are not protected.

ARTFUL TOUCH

Chemistry is one means to making cold cuts and frankfurters have the eye appeal you like. Small amounts of chemical substances with such names as sodium nitrate or sodium nitrite give cured sausage meats a natural red color. And since some cured sausage or other cured meats fade or change color during storage, sodium erythorbate is often added to keep color from changing. Of course, these are harmless chemicals, declared safe for use in foods.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

You don't have to be a genius to make nice flower arrangements. But it does require care and thought. Choose the right place in your home for your arrangement before you begin. It could be for the dining room table, the mantle or a bookshelf. Each arrangement will require particular specifications. The dining room table arrangement should not be too tall and should be pleasing when viewed from any angle. The mantle and bookcase require arrangements that fit well with the accessories. These arrangements are seen from the front and sides. Knowing where you will use flowers will help you in selecting the right colors, the right kinds and the right amounts. But remember that too many flowers will make your rooms look like the horticultural hall at the county fair.

Chief William McIntosh and his Creek Indian descendants Reunion will be held Saturday, August 16, 1969, at Florala, on Beautiful Lake Jackson at the Britton Park Grounds set aside for this special occasion.

Chief W. E. (Dode) McIntosh, Principal Chief of the Creek Indian Nation, I.T., Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be present and main speaker. A qualified speaker will speak on the Family Life of Chief W. M. McIntosh and his Life as a General with the Creek Indian Army's and his connection with Beautiful Lake Jackson.

Chief Calvin McGee of Atmore, Alabama, with his group of Indian Dancers from the Poarch Indian School, Poarch, Alabama, will be present. All descendants are invited to come and bring the family and a well filled basket. Dinner will be "Old Fashioned Picnic style" where plenty of parking space will be found.

There are over 103 million drivers in the country, in 97 million vehicles, rolling up nearly one trillion driver-miles a year.

Washington Report

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

Congressman George Andrews introduced legislation to limit the importation of textile products into this country. In remarks made in the House chamber earlier this week, Andrews deplored the crisis facing the textile industry which will limit the United States Government importation of each category of textile articles pay the minimum wage, annually to the amount of $1.60 per hour, but allows each category imported an unlimited flow of textile during a representative imports, made with labor paid between 15 and 30 cents and hour, into this country, to the detriment of the American industry. He noted that while Alabama's textile industry employs 42,200 people and can expect an annual wage of over $200 million this year, Commerce Secretary Stans has warned that the textile import situation could mean the loss of 600,000 jobs.
